New York Wins Fifth Game of World Series

JANTS TIE THE SCORE IN THE SIXTH AND MAKE WINNING RUN IN THE NINTH

New York, Oct. 25.—The Giants won their bats today and with but one game between themselves and defeat for the world's baseball championship, won by the score of 10 to 3, in the tenth inning of a sensational uphill struggle against the Philadelphia Athletics and put themselves again in the running tonight for the world's series stands

	Won	Lost
Philadelphia Americans	3	4
New York Nationals	2	3

The Giants won largely by bashing and clean hitting. It was declared to night by Umpire Klem, the National League official who worked behind the plate. Klem says Doyle did not touch the plate in sliding in with the lead tally and it needed only a pro test from the victors to nullify the score which he was supposed to have

Stands Mixed Play
 Nobody in the stands knew any thing of this and the edge of the crowds went wild in apnea of technical skill. Seldom, indeed if ever has there been such a scene of excitement witnessed in the history of the Polo Grounds as during the Gettysburg and winning rally of the Giants in the presence of a crowd of nearly 25,000 persons. Discouraged through the loss of three straight games Matthews, twice beaten their former master, left handed Marquard for the second time taken out of the box after a home-run rap from a Philadelphia bat, and the score 3 to 2 against them. The New York Yankees, using their bats against Iron Horse Jack Coomb's curves in the ninth inning to such effect that two talks came in, tying the score. The next time up they started in at Ed Plank and punched another run across the plate for a well-earned victory.

New York's hopes had been at an ebb as the game started with Mar-quard and Coombs as the twirlers and sang with further aid with two men on bases. Kube Oiding drove the ball into left field. Bleachers for a home run in the third for three Philadelphia tallies. Coombs was his old effective self meanwhile the Giants having scored but a solitary run—in the lucky seventh—up to their final rally Ames had relieved. Margard in the fourth and was pitching scoreless ball when in the seventh Crandall was sent in to bat for him.

Crandall Turning Point
The turning point in the struggle may be reckoned from Crandall's infection into the game. The husky twirler after being passed to first in the seventh inning, but without effect on the score pitched the Athletics into elphers in the eighth ninth and tenth and came to time with a crackles, double with two men out in the New York a ninth line his work of Fletcher who had doubled and before another of the day a mobsters threw him a swift drive to left for a single that brought Crandall home and tied the score.

The scene of enthusiasm that accompanied this feat of the Giants was indescribable. The shouting and cheering from the stands resolved itself into a deafening roar. A few minutes later came the triumph of "the bap" by home fans who had seen defeat turned into victory when Lefty O'Doul, slammed a keyy double to left, advancing to third when Snodgrass attempted sacrifice failed, came home when Metkile sent a high fly to Musy for an effective sacrifice. The life of the game centered in the third innink and tenth innings, and the pitchers were not so much the focus of interest as in the preceding contests.

DIAMOND JEWELRY

Diamonds are the only jewelry that increase in value with time, in fact there is no investment so sure or profitable, and they advance more rapidly in hard times than at any other time.

The value of a diamond depends upon its quality, some are worth $90.00 a carat, others $25.00. Diamonds have a fixed standard value they are as staple as gold. It is a simple matter for you to see that you have nothing to gain by buying away from home and the advantages of buying from some one you know to be reliable are at once apparent.

In the circus ring a woman as a rule draws a higher salary, receives the greater applause, and more commendations from the management than does the male performer. Notwithstanding their high salary and the scarcity of excellent performers Forepaugh and Bells Brothers have a large number of women performers.

At their lead stands petite Carrie Rooney, one of the half-woman acrobatic equestrians who have attained prominence as a bareback rider. Her repertoire of feats and evolutions is so varied that she can completely change her act at every performance for day, at a time. The riding acts with this superior circus this season far exceed any offered by circuses in years gone by. The riding Rooney's occupy one of the rings, while the acrobatic performance of the middle ring during the early stages of the performance.

Miss Edith Corcoran is pronounced England's best rider, and famous upon both continents. Special innovations in the way of all kinds of new circus acts have been secured. In conjunction with a long string of the pick of American performers. Every department has been increased extensively.

The big thriller with the show this season is the double sumo-saulting automobile. Others in the past have advertised an act which was claimed to be similar, but this is the first real and genuine mid-air automobile double sumo-sault ever accomplished. It is the most sensational of all the thrills of the age.

The parade said to be the finest turnout of any circus ever made in this country, will traverse the principal streets the morning of show day. This big show was recently rebuilt and now represents the best and newest of modern circus building. Every recently invented idea to elevate circuses and give comfort to the patrons has been employed in the work of reconstruction.

This big circus comes to Dothan, Tuesday, October 31.

17, at a point six miles east of Sunny Ridge in Wilcox county, thence crossing Monroe and Conecuh counties to Pleasant in Escambia county. This road is the first to have been made of the weevil hole bumper, Marengo, Wilcox counties.

Can't Ship Cotton Seed

Dr. W. E. Hinds, professor of entomology and state entomologist, will send letters informing cotton shippers of the infestation, warning them of the state quarantine laws, which forbid the shipment of cotton from infested territory into uninfested territory within the state. Shipments cannot be thus made, under the law, even for purpose of manufacturing of by products.

The counties of Alabama which, by virtue of the fact of infestation, come with the quarantine are Sumter, Marengo, Wilcox, Monroe, Conecuh, Escambia, and all other counties of the state north and west of these, which includes Mobile, Washington, Greene, Choctaw and Clarke.

Although there is no information on that score, Dr. Hinds is of the opinion, judging from the course of the weevil traced by Mr. Carpenter, that the pest might be found in a small portion of the southwest corner of Pickens county, in Alabama, and that it must have spread correspondingly in Mississippi.

Ways of the Oyster.

Oysters after they have been brought away from the sea know by instinct the exact hour when the tide is rising and approaching their beds and so of their own accord open their shells to receive the food from the sea as if they were still at home.—London Telegraph.

It Reminded Him.

"I have seen in my journey several tribes," said the traveler, "who voluntarily undergo all sorts of self-inflicted lacerations."

"That's nothing," answered Mr. Tutt. "I know a lot of people who insist on shaving themselves."

"Where are you going so fast?" "My wife has lost her spectacles and she says that the lady is ugly, and I am going home to see what it looks like."—Toledo Blade.

The Test He Used.

"I was throwing up dirt from an excavator in the pavement one day," said an old laborer, "when a little old chap with white hair stopped to look at me. I was as big as two of him. After a minute or two I tested on my shovel and looked up at him. Said I: 'If you had to do work with a shovel for your living you'd never to death before you could make a trench deep enough to bury you.'"

"I thought that was a smart thing to say, and I laughed. Then he answered me. He was a slow speaking man with a suit of drivel."

"I might as well—say—you say," he said, and put a—here—a trade—he which I used—lost my touch—like—your. In fact many people who—work at it and fifth—with—as—you—do—will do worse. This—la—the—look."

"I have the pen yet," concluded the laborer, "and no dirt was ever shoveled with it."—New York Globe.

More Than Gratitude.

Approval of the custom of some hostesses to invite professional artists to their homes in the expectation that they will amuse their guests free of charge, is told of Miss Bertha Brady, the famous Parthian artist, who was invited to a social gathering and asked by the hostess to recite. She consented, and then, in order that there might be no mistake about the matter, the hostess said:

"How kind it is of you to work for us in this friendly manner!"

The emphasis on the word "friendly" was so marked as to show clearly enough that the service was to be gratuitous. After the recitation was over Miss Brady took a silver card tray from a cotillion, and, imitating the musicians in the coffee parlors, she made a tour of the dining room and collected whatever contributions were offered, and they were substantial ones. Then she handed them to her hostess and left the house.

Lightning's Queer Ways.

As every one knows, it is dangerous to stand near a tree during a thunder-storm, but if any one is so foolish as to do it he will do well to lean against the tree. If he does this the charge goes in at his shoulder, burning it, and then passes down the skin along the middle of the back. Arrived at the legs, it may run along one or both. It will seriously burn the knee and other prominent parts, get out through the stockings or bore a hole through the boots or destroy the boots altogether. But if he stands near a tree or wall without being in contact the stream of lightning may jump to the head bones and cause instant death. If it doesn't do this it will probably burn the hair and travel over the skin of the head, going down the front of the body or getting inside it and doing terrible damage.

Gravity.

Robert Louis Stevenson was a close student of style and has left more than one interesting discussion of the technique of writing. In a letter to E. A. M. Stevenson, dated October, 1885, he says:

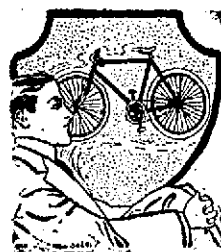

"There is but one art to write. Oh, if I knew how to write I could ask no other knowledge. A man who knew how to write would move in a kind of a daily paper."

To some persons in editorial writing, which is the art of writing ideas effectively before a vast audience and to power men and women in college who are planning to enter journalism are recommended that the above few words of Stevenson's be committed to memory and put into practice.—Columbia Weekly.

Friends.

Put your heart into the search for a friend, freely offer assistance to any of the crowd who needs it, and, sooner or later, you will find a hand outstretched toward yours, and your soul will meet its likeness. Do not inhale those who shut up in their individuality as in a shield, indifferent to all passes by, yet read forth on the four winds of heaven the melancholy cry: "There are no friends." They do exist, be sure of it, but only for those who seek, for those deeply interested in the search and for those who do not wear a content to win on the thread of life in a hurry like a spider's web, intended to catch houseflies.

A Monumental Mistake.

If one could get the idea who feel worse the day after than they did the day before, probably could be elected to the Globe.

Men grumble because they have to thank God that He has put them there?—Amen.

COME TO SOUTH MISSISSIPPI AND OWN YOUR OWN HOME.

Why pay high rental for land when you can purchase better land and pay for it in four years paying the same amount as you are now paying for rent. We will sell you a farm on terms to suit yourself and will charge no interest on your payments and we pay all the taxes until the land is paid for and you have your deed.

We have 100,000 acre in South Mississippi only 30 miles from the gulf coast with an altitude of more than 300 feet above the sea level, and none of it is further than five miles from the railroad.

Our large canning factories and truck growing and selling organizations guarantee a ready market for all crops grown.

Net results of from $100.00 to $300.00 per acre are common here and you can make more from 1 acre than is usually made from 5 acres growing cotton. We are also in the center of the Pecan and Satsuma orange belt and they grow to a perfection here. If it's a home you want, we want to get acquainted, for we are in position to help you.

Our illustrated booklet, maps, etc., will be mailed upon application, which includes testimonials from people who are farming here now.

Sewing Machines

Not much argument is necessary for a sewing machine in a home. . . . They mean less work, money saved on clothing, and better things to wear.

The main question is where to buy the machine. You don't believe in buying a cheap pair of scissors, do you? You know they could be poorly tempered, made of cheap steel so would not cut well and would break easily. Neither would you pay four or five dollars simply because they were a good brand.

Use the same judgment in buying a sewing machine. A cheap machine is a waste of money, is bound to get out of order, cannot do satisfactory work or last; still when you buy a machine from us, you pay nothing extra for our ability to sell you the best machine for the money or for the name or reputation of the machine itself. All we ask is a chance to demonstrate our machine before you buy.
